Restoration Lime is the original idea of an experienced conservation builder, who understands the complexities and art of traditional building. Restoration Lime was formed as a central point for both builders and the public to discuss and order traditional products, knowing that help is at hand if required.

This friendly and professional business prides itself on building a relationship with its clients and supporting projects through to the finish.

Our products are eminently suitable for laying bricks and pointing, for internal base coats and top coat plaster and external rendering. We supply a flexible breathable solution for any properties pre 1900 (these older buildings should be treated with care - please bear in mind, sand and cement can cause damage to traditional buildings).

Our lime mortars are a mixture of the finest mature British slaked lime putty and various sands. If supplied directly to the site, they can also be blended with a pozzolanic additive, which is a natural material that helps the mortar to set more rapidly.

Our products are particularly suited as an architecturally sympathetic exterior render, which is both breathable and allows for movement whilst vastly reducing cracking.
